Introduction

The Wicking family has so far been traced to Lingfield in Surrey, where one James Wicking was baptised in 1779. There was a small community of Wickings in that parish and the adjacent Crowhurst, and it can be shown that there has been consistent use of that spelling throughout the last 200 years. This is quite distinct from the alternative Wicken and Wickin styles.

The Bannister line is now (1999) identified as a collateral. The main line passes through Wicking/Capon.
