Babur, the first moghul lured to India by its riches started a Dynasty which became known As the Moghul Empire for over two centuries.

The Emperors led the way, their brilliant personalities were the jewels of the pavilion of Moghul India. They brought with them the signs of their nomadic origin such as the mastery of horse riding and the unique ways of preparing and cooking food, their food was cooked on open fires or a makeshift earthenware oven, giving it an delicate flavour and natural taste, the cooking style gradually blended with the prevalent Indian cuisine of delicate herbs and spices, thus becoming what is now known as “Mogfai cuisine.”

True to the Mogfai cuisine traditions, the Moghul in Sidcup has been creating Indian culinary delights since 1985. Moghul is now the only totally non-smoking Indian Restaurant in Sidcup, come and experience the relaxed ambience and good food at the Moghul.
