1. ABOUT HOME VIEWS

Welcome to Home Views Library 1, where you will find 2,135 WMF (for documents to be printed) and 1,187 GIF pictures (for use on Web Pages) of objects, people and scenes to be found in Britain. We hope that you will enjoy using them, and you can print them in publications or use them on your web pages without payment of royalties, but they are not to be copied electronically for re-sale.

We welcome suggestions for subjects for further pictures

NB For ease of use and for security, we recommend that you copy the HV folder (containing the Library 1 sub-folder) on the CD to your 'C' Drive, and keep the CD in a safe place for back-up

2. WHY USE CLIP ART AND NOT PHOTOGRAPHS?

Scanners and digital cameras, and high-quality printing from bubble-jet printers, have made it much easier to use photographs on the ordinary PC. Undoubtedly, photographs are more realistic than clip art.

But photographs, like all bitmap files, are made up of hundreds, perhaps thousands, of pixels on the screen, and so use up a lot of memory and will slow down your PC and printer, and likewise photos are slower on web pages than drawings. For good results when printed, they require glossy or semi-glossy paper. Consequently they suffer degradation when used in quickly printed or photocopied documents such as newsletters and advertising flyers. They can also appear somewhat fuzzy and imprecise when enlarged.

In contrast our clip art pictures (in WMF, Windows Metafile Format) are composed of exactly drawn lines and areas of flat colour. Consequently, they cannot show texture or shading, nor great detail, nor can they suggest atmosphere. But they retain their quality and precision no matter how much you enlarge them. They also use very little memory and will not slow down your PC or printer.

In addition our vector-drawn pictures, unlike photographs, can be combined because they have transparent backgrounds (you may need to alter 'frame properties' to obtain this). In your drawing application, you can resize, crop and combine our pictures, add lines and frames to them, and then copy and paste the new picture into your DTP or word-processing application, and you can edit them directly in some DTP and word-processing applications: see the examples in §10 below.

3. FILE NAMES

Files with '(S)' in their names are black silhouettes. Sometimes, as with townscapes and pictures used in logos and on letter-heads, what is needed is a quickly recognisable outline rather than detail. That is why we have included silhouette versions of sample pictures in most groups. And some subjects were much too complicated to be drawn in detail.

4. PREVIEWING YOUR PICTURES

1. If you have a Clip Art Browser, you can edit it to add the Home Views files, and then drag and drop, or copy and paste, the pictures on to your applications.
2. Some applications give a preview of pictures in their 'Import picture' dialogue boxes.

5. IMPORTING WMF PICTURES

1. To use a picture, first open your word-processing, DTP or drawing application and then a new or an existing file.
2. In a word-processing or DTP application, it is usually better to create a frame first (without margins) and then to import the picture into it.
3. If you let the application provide the frame, you may need to alter the frame properties to fit the frame to the picture, or alter it manually, especially if the picture appears distorted.
4. To import a picture, use File/Import or File/Import Picture or Edit/Import on your tool bar. Select All Files, All Picture Types, All Graphic Files or Windows Metafiles in the 'Files of type' box; select the HV\Library 1 folder (or directory) on your hard drive (if, as recommended, you have copied it to your hard drive); select the appropriate sub-folders in the 'Look in' box; and double-click on the required file.
5. NB In certain pictures, some lines may appear not to be straight, especially when the pictures are resized or moved, or when you zoom in or out. But don't worry: they will be printed as straight lines.

6. PRINTING PICTURES

The colours, or shades of grey, as printed will depend on your printer and the settings you choose. If you can, use the highest quality available, and, if printing coloured pictures in black with a colour bubble-jet, use a black cartridge and select the settings for it.

7. NOTES ON PARTICULAR FOLDERS

A. People\Regional:

See also Sports & Games\Other Sports for Highland games (putting the shot & tossing the caber).

B. Transport\Railway

See also Places\London for Docklands Lt Rly and the Underground.

C. Transport\Railway Steam

See also Places\Wales for Festinniog, Talyllin & Vale of Rheidol Rlys.

D. Transport/Road Signs

In these folders you will find plain signs onto which you can place appropriate pictures and text. For the latter, use Arial and bold, and change the colour and size to suit.

Note that all road signs use a curved 'l' (lower case 'L') to distinguish it from 'i' and '1'. For this we have provided 'l-black', 'l-white1', 'l-white2', 'l-white3' and 'l-yellow'. Import these files instead of the Arial 'l', and resize and align them to suit the rest of your text: see the example in §10 below.

E. Flags & Heraldry

The files in this folder will enable you to reproduce and create logos, badges, crests and coats of arms. To have and display your own coat of arms, you should apply to the relevant Court of Arms.

Most libraries have books on heraldry. The basic rule, though often broken, is that 'tinctures', (i.e. black, blue, green, purple, red) should not be placed on each other, nor should 'metals' (i.e. gold or yellow, and silver or white), but only tincture on metal and metal on tincture, so that they are clearly visible.

You can build up complex coats of arms by overlaying and joining shields, adding frames of your own, and adding 'charges' or objects: take care to resize and place them accurately: see the samples in §10 below.

8 USING GIF PICTURES FOR WEB PAGES

We have converted about half of the WMF pictures into GIF pictures for use on web pages. In doing so, we have had to thicken lines, change some colours and simplify some details, otherwise they would not be displayed. Occasionally, because GIF pictures cannot be manipulated, we have added extra versions. We have also had to change the style of the names to eliminate uppercase letters and spaces. All non-rectangular pictures (the vast majority) have been placed on transparent rectangular backgrounds, and all pictures are interlaced.

Before you import a GIF picture, or write HTML coding for it, look at it in preview and judge the approximate proportions of the vertical and horizontal dimensions, and then resize the space to suit if it appears distorted.

Please contact us if you would like GIF versions of composite pictures from our WMF library, e.g. logos, coats-of-arms.

9 ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

We are grateful to the following companies for photographs on which we have based drawings:

AGCO, Coventry:

ALVIS VEHICLES LTD, Telford:

FARID MUNICIPAL VEHICLES LTD, Ford, W. Sussex

Massey Fergusson farm vehicles

Alvis military vehicles

Farid refuse vehicles

10 SAMPLES FOR MANIPULATING .WMF PICTURES

NB When importing .WMF pictures into a word-processing or DTP application, it is better to create a frame first, and then click on the frame and import the picture into it, and resize the frame to suit. Otherwise, the picture may appear distorted and you will have to change the frame properties, as well as resizing the frame, to get it to appear in the correct proportions.

1. Manipulating pictures

Transport & Travel\Road Signs\Red Signs\No-r-trn

The same flipped vertically to produce 'No Left Turn'

Flags & Heraldry\Weapons\Sword 2\Black

The same rotated 45°, copied, flipped vertically and the copy placed over the first picture

2 Cropping Pictures

People\Occupations\Traffic Warden

Double click on picture inside frame, to bring up 'left hand' mouse-pointer, and move picture within frame to crop it.

2 Combining pictures

NB It is usually easier and more accurate to combine pictures on drawing application rather than on a word-processing or some DTP applications. In particular, pictures are best resized by using resizing tools and specifying the percentage by which you wish them to be resized, rather than by simply manually stretching them or their frames.

Transport & Travel\Road\Driver, F

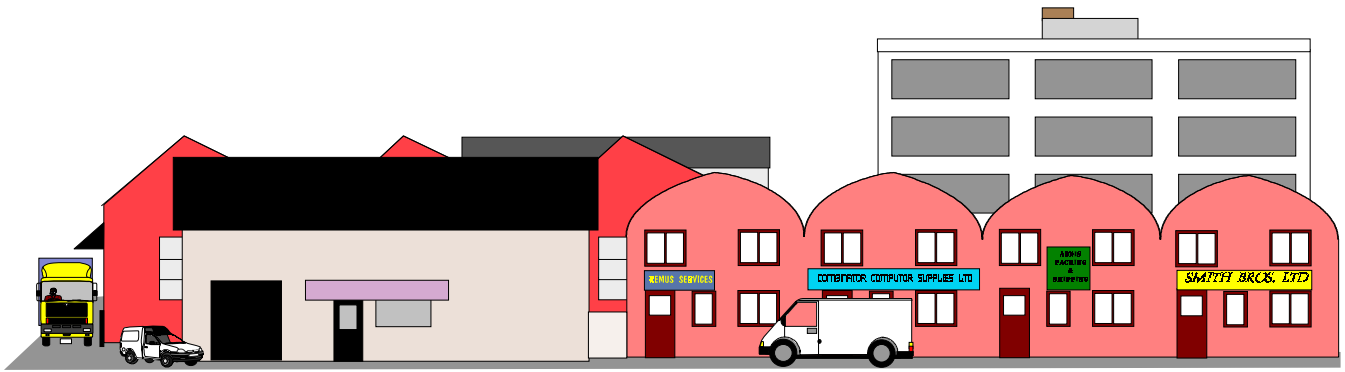

The same with Transport & Travel\Road\Vauxhall Vectra placed over it

NB On a word-processing or DTP application, the frame for the latter requires transparent background or no pattern

Transport & Travel\Road Signs\Tourist\Tourist2
 + Transport & Travel\Road Signs\Tourist\Hotel }
 + Text ('Hote') (Arial, white, bold) }
 + Transport & Travel\Road Signs\General\l-white3 }

All in frames with } transparent backgrounds } or no pattern }

Places\Scenes\Industrial Estate

This picture was constructed as follows:

1. A trapezoidal frame was drawn and filled with grey for the roads.
2. Buildings (General)\Commercial\Office Block 1 was placed on it and stretched horizontally, and two rectangular frames, filled with grey, were drawn for the other building at the rear.
3. In front of them, Buildings\Commercial\Factory 1 was imported and placed, followed by Buildings\Commercial\Industrial Units.
4. On these in turn, other rectangular frames were drawn for the warehouse and the signs, and frames with text were placed on the latter.
5. Finally, three pictures from Transport & Travel\Road were added.

Examples using pictures from Flags & Heraldry:

*Shields 1\
Shld-blk*

Same
+ Beasts\Lion 1, red, in yellow frame
+ Crosses\X-4-whi in black or transparent frame

Shields 2\Chq-blu
+ red rectangular frame
+ Shields 1\Qtr-red flipped vertically

Shields 2\dia1-red + Shields 2\dia2-grn
both flipped vertically
Or Shields 1\Shld-red + Shields 2\dia2-grn flipped vertically
Or Shields 1\Shld-grn + Shields 2\dia1-red flipped vertically
